Elevate Your Everyday with New smartwater® sparkling

The delicious crisp taste of the smartwater® you know and love, now also available with just the right amount of tiny bubbles

NEW YORK--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- The makers of smartwater® are bubbling with excitement to introduce new smartwater sparkling. With the purity of vapor distillation, combined with electrolytes for taste and just the right amount of delicate carbonation, smartwater sparkling is carefully designed to deliver a taste that is distinctly fresh, crisp and delicious.

Beginning this month, smartwater sparkling will be available at select retailers (including upscale dining locations and hotels, online sites and club outlets) and will pop up at targeted events in New York City, Los Angeles and Miami. Initially available in one-liter bottles, smartwater sparkling has a suggested retail price of $1.99.

“smartwater sparkling is the innovation that our fans have been waiting for,” said Caroline Kibler, Director of smartwater. “Earlier this year, we launched our #upupup campaign which aimed to inspire consumers and help to elevate their everyday journeys, in the same way that smartwater is water inspired by the clouds. Similarly, smartwater sparkling, with its crisp and refreshing effervescence, is a new way to elevate consumer experiences.”

2016 will be a big year for smartwater sparkling as it will become available in more packages and sizes and will expand into additional markets throughout the country.
